

Welcome to Bayside Libraries:

Bayside Libraries are committed to providing a safe and comfortable environment for our customers and staff. Unsociable behaviour such as harassment, aggression or the use of inappropriate language, is not acceptable.

Library staff have the right to ask customers behaving in an unacceptable manner to leave the building. People who consistently behave in an unacceptable manner may be refused entry to the Library for a specified period.

Interacting with others

Almost every day you will be interacting with other people. Interactions in the library could include meeting with friends, researching an assignment or chatting with staff to find your next great read! Whatever the type of interaction you have, it is important that you are respectful to other visitors and staff and that others are respectful to you.

Interacting online

The Internet contains a wealth of information that is freely available. The Bayside Library Service does not monitor or control such information and therefore cannot be held responsible for its content.

The Library does not use censoring software as it inhibits free access to information and it does not provide adequate protection for children from all material that may be harmful on the Internet. Bayside Library Service strongly recommends all children be accompanied by an adult caregiver when using the internet.

Comments, pictures, videos and other content that you post on social media sites are in the public domain. You are responsible for what you post and should remember that others may be able to access your information and comments.

Before you post something, ask yourself what your family or your current or future employer would think if they saw the post. Are your comments appropriate? Could they cause offence? Could they be interpreted as cyber-bullying??

Welcome to Bayside Libraries:

Bayside Libraries are committed to providing a safe and comfortable environment for our customers and staff. Unsociable behaviour such as harassment, aggression or the use of inappropriate language, is not acceptable.

Library staff have the right to ask customers behaving in an unacceptable manner to leave the building. People who consistently behave in an unacceptable manner may be refused entry to the Library for a specified period.

Interacting with others

Almost every day you will be interacting with other people. Interactions in the library could include meeting with friends, researching an assignment or chatting with staff to find your next great read! Whatever the type of interaction you have, it is important that you are respectful to other visitors and staff and that others are respectful to you.

Interacting online

The Internet contains a wealth of information that is freely available. The Bayside Library Service does not monitor or control such information and therefore cannot be held responsible for its content.

The Library does not use censoring software as it inhibits free access to information and it does not provide adequate protection for children from all material that may be harmful on the Internet. Bayside Library Service strongly recommends all children be accompanied by an adult caregiver when using the internet.

Comments, pictures, videos and other content that you post on social media sites are in the public domain. You are responsible for what you post and should remember that others may be able to access your information and comments.

Before you post something, ask yourself what your family or your current or future employer would think if they saw the post. Are your comments

appropriate? Could they cause offence? Could they be interpreted as cyber-bullying??

Welcome to Bayside Libraries:

Bayside Libraries are committed to providing a safe and comfortable environment for our customers and staff. Unsociable behaviour such as harassment, aggression or the use of inappropriate language, is not acceptable.

Library staff have the right to ask customers behaving in an unacceptable manner to leave the building. People who consistently behave in an unacceptable manner may be refused entry to the Library for a specified period.

Interacting with others

Almost every day you will be interacting with other people. Interactions in the library could include meeting with friends, researching an assignment or chatting with staff to find your next great read! Whatever the type of interaction you have, it is important that you are respectful to other visitors and staff and that others are respectful to you.

Interacting online

The Internet contains a wealth of information that is freely available. The Bayside Library Service does not monitor or control such information and therefore cannot be held responsible for its content.

The Library does not use censoring software as it inhibits free access to information and it does not provide adequate protection for children from all material that may be harmful on the Internet. Bayside Library Service strongly recommends all children be accompanied by an adult caregiver when using the internet.

Comments, pictures, videos and other content that you post on social media sites are in the public domain. You are responsible for what you post and should remember that others may be able to access your information and comments.

Before you post something, ask yourself what your family or your current or future employer would think if they saw the post. Are your comments appropriate? Could they cause offence? Could they be interpreted as cyber-bullying??