Statesboro Family Practice Joins East Georgia Medical & Surgical Associates

STATESBORO, GA – A practice whose providers are known for a 42-year tradition of providing community-focused family medicine services to Statesboro and Bulloch County residents is now part of East Georgia Medical & Surgical Associates.

Statesboro Family Practice's affiliation with East Georgia Medical & Surgical Associates gives their patients enhanced access to a full spectrum of care close to home. Statesboro Family Practice will continue to provide the compassionate primary care its patients have come to expect, including same day/next day appointments.

The organizations reached an agreement earlier this summer for the medical practice to become part of East Georgia Medical & Surgical's growing community-based network. The agreement takes effect October 1st, meaning all of the practice's employees, which include four physicians and three family nurse practitioners, are now East Ga. HMA Physician Management, LLC employees.

Dr. Randy Smith, one of the original physician partners in this long-standing family practice clinic, stated, "Through this relationship, we will be able to obtain new technologies, including a new and more efficient computer system; and with the support of the hospital will be able to attract new physicians and add more nurse practitioners to our practice so that we can better serve the needs of our patients in a timely manner."

"Relief from time-consuming business aspects of the medical practice allows my physician partners and me to focus more of our time on direct patient care," added Dr. Smith. "We look forward to being part of East Georgia Medical & Surgical Associates so that we may continue offering the high quality and compassionate care to our patients for which Statesboro Family Practice has become known."

Statesboro Family Practice is a primary care clinic located at 658 Northside Drive East, Suite A, in Statesboro. The medical practice includes seven health care providers:
